

PARK LANE

CHEFS

Welcome to Park Lane Chefs, a bespoke private dining service for discerning residents of Cheshire, Manchester and Merseyside.

Whether you're looking for a chef to invent an exquisite dinner party according to your personal instructions, a short term or full time chef to look after your everyday needs, or something spectacular for an event or party, Park Lane's personal service, tailored to your requirements, promises to serve up a treat.

Our chefs have been carefully vetted and selected, and have worked in top restaurants around the world. They will work with you to devise a menu to suit any occasion or diet.

About us

Park Lane Chefs is an agency which was established to provide the residents of the North West of England with a private dining service of the highest standard.

All of its services are bespoke and clients are always met face to face in order to establish a relationship of trust and to gain a true understanding of their unique requirements.

Based upon a personal and unerringly excellent service, Park Lane's chefs are carefully vetted and referenced to ensure that the quality of food is consistently high and the client's overall experience is brilliant.

Services

One off meal preparation

Popular for dinner parties, a private chef guarantees that guests will be impressed. In this instance, the shopping and preparation is taken out of your hands, leaving you free to relax and enjoy the occasion. Our chef will be happy to stay and present the culinary creations to the table or, if you prefer, he/she can spirit away and let you take the credit!

Permanent and long term contracts

For busy professionals who struggle to find the time to create a nutritious and satisfying meal at the end of the day, families who prefer to spend time at home together than busy in the kitchen or those who dream of eating restaurant standard food every day, a private chef can provide for your every meal.

All dietary requirements and preferences can be catered for.

Short term contracts

If you're in town on business, have friends or family visiting or want to take haute cuisine to the chalet or yacht, a chef on a short term contract can take care of everything.

Events and parties

Planning an event or party can be both stressful and time consuming. Let Park Lane's chefs and planners take this on and we will work with you to create something spectacular for the occasion.

As well as the cuisine, we can take care of every other detail, from music to invitations to waiting staff, with our bespoke events management service, so all you have to worry about is what to wear.

Recruiting Chefs

We are always looking chefs with a high level of expertise and flair, who, in providing a culinary service for our clients, can help to maintain our reputation for quality, attentiveness and for putting on a spectacle.

Chefs who fit the bill and are interested in working for some of the most discerning customers in the UK are invited to send CVs to info@parklanechefs.com
